

Dear FCC Commissioners,

I encourage you to further examine and take action on the threat that communications towers pose to migratory birds. This is a serious threat that the telecommunications industry is virtually ignoring. It's now up to you to take action.

Specifically, I urge you to do the following:

>Begin a systematic review of communication tower and bird mortality issues.

- Institute a research program, funded by the communications industry, to identify tower placement, design and lighting conditions that result in bird mortality.
- Undertake environmental reviews of all existing towers to assess their placement and design with regard to migratory bird impacts.
- Require that all proposed towers be subjected to rigorous environmental reviews.
- Implement immediate protections based on existing knowledge, such as the voluntary tower siting and placement guidelines developed by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

Thank you for your attention to this matter and for the opportunity to comment.

Sincerely,
Malcolm Kenton
